THE STATE LANDS

The action of the Regents of the University in raising the price of the State lands from $1 25 to $2 50 per acre, is giving rise to a great deal of discussion. There are arguments made in favor of both rates, and the matter is one which is now open to a fair discussion by the press of the State, not as it may be influenced by sectional considerations, but as the result may influence the future welfare of the State. The State of Nevada had granted, in lieu of the sixteenth and thirty-sixth sections, about 2,000,000 acres of land. It has been selling this land in forty-acre tracts, boding up the land on both sides of the streams and covering springs. There is an instance on Quinn's river where the sale of about 12,000 acres of land has given the purchaser control of 1,200,000 acres. There is an instance on Mary's river where the sale of 18,000 acres has given control of 1,000,000 acres. So long as the State sells water and with it the control of land $2 50 per acre is a very low price. By the time the State has sold 500,000 acres of land the remaining 1,500,000 acres of land will not be worth 15 cents per acre, because, taken in connection with what the railroad company owns, 500,000 acres will cover all the water, leaving the remainder of the State land entirely unsalable. The lands of the State have been sold in little narrow threads, and all the provisions of the law restricting the right of each locator and purchaser have been of no avail to prevent the grazing monopoly of the whole State. On Quinn's river the State has sold both banks of that stream for 52 miles, a little narrow tape worm thread running up both banks of that water course. It gave the purchaser the fee simple to 1,000,000 acres. The purchaser would have paid $10 per acre just as readily as he did pay the price asked. The State is in the hands of a few herdsmen, simply through the purchase of the water from the State in recent times and from the railroad in times past. The policy of the State of Nevada concerning its lands has been the most wasteful, unwise and extravagant. Now the question under consideration is whether or not the State ought to have $2 50 per acre for the land. No one desires to purchase anything but watered sections, springs, or the banks of streams. One would think that a people understanding the relation of grazing land to water, could have evolved a policy concerning its lands which would have sold the 2,000,000 acres, and would have contributed wealth and population. Instead of this, the State has committed the folly of permitting a few people to purchase the water—to devote the entire country to a few large ranches—to give control of about 1,000 acres for every acre purchased by a few cattlemen. If a proper policy had been pursued Nevada would have had a hundred small herdsmen for every ranchman to-day. As long as the State pursues the policy of selling the water, it ought to raise the price to $10 per acre, because by the time 500,000 acres will have been disposed of the remainder of the grant will be unsalable. It is urged the raise in the prices will keep out those who would like to settle here. A man who means business and wants 160 acres of land will not walk past it, if it has good water because of $2 50 per acre. We submit that one hundred ranchers each developing ranches of 160 acres are much better calculated to add to the wealth and prosperity of the State than one man who has 160,000 acres taken up and used for grazing alone.—Appeal.

Commenting on the above the Enterprise says: "An editorial in the Carson Appeal on the subject of the disposal of our State lands, challenges general attention. It is based on the recent action of the Board of Regents in raising the price of land contiguous to springs and water courses. As the Appeal very sensibly remarks, the matter is now open to a fair discussion by the press of the State. Whatever is material to the controversy ought to be presented, and that too, without either fear of or favor to any parties interested. As the large domain subject to disposal by the State and granted to it by the General Government is the heritage of the children of Nevada for educational purposes alone, the question should be discussed with the fullest candor and intelligence, and in order that this precious patrimony shall be wisely and honestly administered. Neither the grazing or agricultural interests on one hand, nor the temporary advantage of a rush of business in the State Land Office on the other, should be given too much weight in the endeavors to arrive at just conclusions. The chief issue, it seems to us, is whether it is even right or expedient to permit individuals to derive great profits from lands which they neither loan or lease, nor upon which they pay taxes for the support of the Government.

It is undeniable that this is done and that vast tracts of land in Nevada have been absorbed to private use under that provision of law which permits the purchase of land in subdivisions as small as forty acres. It is claimed that the feature of the law was adopted in the interest of the poor man, to whom even forty acres might prove a boon, but experience has shown that it has been turned into a cunning device by which men to seize upon the springs and water courses, which are few and far between, thus enabling them to graze their cattle free of charge upon the vast intervening stretches of plain and mountain. The records can be successfully appealed to as evidence that the almost universal practice on the part of buyers has been to restrict themselves to the minimum subdivisions surrounding springs or lying along water courses, conscious that by so doing they were masters of the soil lying outside the forty-acre tracts. The Appeal mentions many localities where this has been done.

Until some remedial legislation can be had it will be impossible to abate this evil. Advancing the price is merely progress in that direction. It may insure more money for the State School funds, but it will not deter intending purchasers from obtaining free grazing grounds by an adherence to the practice of securing the water courses only. This they will continue to do, as heretofore, providing they are willing to pay the higher price exacted by these choice and commanding subdivisions. But to rate these subdivisions at an enhanced price, because contiguous to water, can at least be said to be the manifestation of an intuitive recognition that something ought to be done to reform the land policy of the State. If it shall arouse the public conscience, excite discussion and promote diligent inquiry into the present system, then something will be gained and the Regents will merit approval for their course rather than censure. The Enterprise, though edited by a member of the Board, is not necessarily the vehicle of his own personal opinions on the land question, or on any other for that matter. It invites the views and opinions of all who are interested in the welfare of the State, and hence in the right adjustment of all questions related to its welfare. Therefore, whatever criticism any person may feel inclined to offer, either in support of or opposed to the action of the Board of Regents, will be given a hearing in those columns."

Fred Grant's Possibilities

State Senator Arkell being asked if it were true that Col. Fred Grant was likely to be nominated for Secretary of State at Saratoga, said: "I can't say whether the Colonel would accept a nomination for any place. There have been many suggestions in that direction. The Secretary of State and State Surveyor both are to be nominated. I have been telegraphing to find Colonel Grant and ascertain his wishes, but so far have been unable to reach him. He is off on a trip with Potter Palmer and is not in Chicago, where I addressed him. The idea is not from politicians. An old farmer came into the office to talk about it. Farmers grow ideas over plowhandles. They are odd fellows. His notion was that a resolution of regard to the memory of Gen. Grant should be introduced, closing with the declaration of Col. Grant's unanimous nomination as a fitting evidence of the respect in which Gen. Grant was held."

The New York Sun says. Representatives of the local bank and banking institutions continue to call at the Sub-Treasury and tell how badly they need $5 and $10 notes. The Sub-Treasury gave sixteen banks $180,000 in fives and $90,000 in tens. These banks also took $78,000 in silver dollars and $8,000 in fractional silver coins. It is learned that Wednesday's distribution of tens to the banks exhausted the supply in the Sub-Treasury.

The Treasury Committee, appointed to count the money and securities in the sub-Treasury at San Francisco, has reported its work finished, and that everything was found correct.

The Puritan was built by nine members of the Eastern Yacht Club for the express purpose of defending the American cup, and, having ably performed that service, it is now proposed to auction her off. In this connection it is stated that, although she cost $30,000, she will not bring more than $15,000, as she is worthless except for racing. Here is a fine opportunity for the English to astonish themselves by owning the fastest yacht in the world, at least for a little while, until those Yankees have time to build a faster one.

The Genoa Courier says.

The State Agricultural Society of Nevada, organized by an Act of the Legislature, will hold its first annual State Fair at Reno, commencing October 12th and ending October 17th. There will be twenty races, for which $10,000 in premiums are offered, besides which liberal premiums will be given in the Live Stock Department, and exhibits in the Pavilion. Carson Valley is one of the best agricultural districts in the State, and as the display at a Fair always forwards the farming industry, our people should be alive to their own interests and send choice exhibits of various farm products to the Reno Fair. There is also a great deal of fine stock in this county and the Live Stock Department should receive representatives from Douglas. Elsewhere in this issue will be found regulations for free transportation, and advertisement for the Fair. Persons intending to compete for prizes in any of the departments should write to C. H. The San Francisco Rural Press says: "We have never witnessed a pleasanter season at the State Fair than at present. The absence of wheels of fortune and like gambling schemes at the grand stand is agreeably noticeable. Bitter order and less intoxication seems to prevail at the park and throughout the city, to the credit of the managers and city officials.

STATE PRISON SUGGESTION. — Half a dozen new boarders have been received at the State Prison from Washoe county. This causes the cynical Carson Index to remark thus: "It begins to look as if Washoe county deserved a State Prison for her own use." Most certainly charity begins at home, and it is not at all unreasonable that Washoe should try and remove the State Prison to Reno in order to have it handy.—Enterprise.

A Trip to Reno.

Editor R. R. Parkinson, of the Carson Tribune, thus speaks of his visit to Reno Thursday:

Yesterday morning a Tribune reporter paid a visit to the Riverside burg, expecting to see business as lively as on Market street, San Francisco, but alas for human expectations found things as dull as at the Capital, and as many business men holding consultation meetings on the sidewalks, still Reno is as good a town to live in as any other, but there are mean men who seem too fond of throwing the University affairs at Carson's and making inquiries concerning the Mint. This is the only thing the traveler had to complain of, for old friends gave an otherwise cordial reception.

James E. Dealey has made great improvements to the Lake House, all the rooms have been newly papered and carpeted, and are kept as clean as in any hotel in the State. The tables are well supplied and gives evidence of strict attention.

C. C. Chase, proprietor of the Union saloon, corner of Virginia and Second streets, has a fine drinking house and is doing well.

The Monarch, formerly Chase's, is now run by H. J. Thyes & Co. Mr. T. is too well known by all visitors to Reno to require any puffing and it need only be said that the saloon is well conducted.

That old hero and boon companion, J. P. Richardson, is still running the Arcade, with Oliver Steele as assistant. John is growing in width and perhaps wisdom.

Al White, with John Fitzgerald, the genial dispenser and manager, holds the fort at the Palace and receives old friends as kindly as of yore.

W. R. Chamberlain has just returned from Sacramento, a ghost of his former self, having been sweated on the Fair grounds to such an extent that he can scarcely speak.

Saw the grandchild of Hon. J. J. Linn. 'Tis a fine boy, and called Roger. J. J. is not proud of the kid—not at all.

Ben Leete is not as fleshy as he used to be, nor so strait in form, but is just as full of satire as ever.

The Reno folks are looking forward for lively times during Fair week, and are making great preparation to entertain visitors. The grounds are in excellent condition and the track never as good.

Coin is by no means plentiful at the Riverside, in fact, there seems to be many suspicious people as at the Capital, if not more.

M. E. L. Heriot, General manager of the N. & O. R. R., informed this reporter that the five miles of railroad is in excellent condition and is paying over expenses, the freight to Jackson Plains and Modoc counties keeping the road constantly busy. This winter found Mr. H. a very genial gentleman, and from him received a cordial invitation to take a trip over the road at his own convenience.

Accepting San Francisco's Invitation.

Gen. H. O. King, Secretary of the Army of the Potomac, is in receipt of a letter from W. R. Smedberg, D. M. Casbin, Alexander G. Harris, W. L. Elliott, J. C. Innis, L. M. Dorr and others of the San Francisco Committee charged with arranging for the Twentieth National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, in which the committee extends a cordial invitation to the Secretary of the Army of the Potomac to hold their next reunion in San Francisco in 1886. Gen. King will to-day send the following reply: "I have the honor on behalf of the Society of the Army of the Potomac, to acknowledge and accept the invitation of the General Committee of Management to hold its next reunion in San Francisco. At the meeting in Baltimore in May last, San Francisco was selected over several competitors by a large majority. So far as I can learn, everybody desires to be present, but the number will depend much upon the rates and the time of necessary absence. I shall do all in my power at this end of the line to make the reunion a success."

It is announced that no gambling will be permitted at the State Fair this year, and it is to be hoped that it is true, for the patrons of the games at fairs and picnics are usually boys and inexperienced young men who would scarcely think of gambling under other circumstances. The State Fair Directors are to be congratulated if they can suppress this evil on the grounds.—Free Lance.

Nine convicts received from Washoe county, with two outside precincts to hear from. A branch penitentiary is asked for by Reno on the grounds of saving money for the State.—Free Lance.

The first Grant monument completed is on the State Fair grounds, Peabody, Kan. It consists of a shaft forty feet high, built of ears of corn, wrought into elaborate mosaics.

DIRTY TACTICS.

(Car on Appeal.)

Recently in Salt Lake, the Mormons perpetrated a filthy outrage upon the residences of United States District Attorney Dixon and his partner, Hon. S. Varian.

A number of glass jars filled with privy vault filth, were thrown through the windows of both of these gentlemen. One of the Mormon stunk pots narrowly missed Mrs. Varian, who was sitting up nursing a sick child.

This recalls the dirty warfare inaugurated years ago upon the Stenhouse family. The Polygamists have been brought to the Penitentiary by the courageous enforcement of the laws by Messrs. Dixon and Varian, and this seems to be the only way of retaliation.

They talk of putting both these men out of the way, and may possibly do it. If the United States Government allows such an act to be perpetrated, and does not in twenty-four hours wipe out the insult by force of arms, it is unworthy to be called a Government. The cowardly, sneaking Mormon Church is behind the present outrage, and should be held responsible.

Northern Pacific R. R.

The annual statement of the Northern Pacific for the year ending June 30, 1885, shows the gross receipts from freights, $7,446,000; passengers, $3,076,000; mail and express, etc., $712,000; making a total of $11,234,000. The operating expenses were $6,196,000, leaving the net earnings at $5,038,000. Adding to this the interest and dividends on investment, balance on the general interest account and incomes from other sources, amounting to $193,000, the total surplus is $5,231,000. Out of which there was paid for rentals $534,000, guarantee to branch roads, $350,000, maintenance of terminal property at Portland, $27,000, interest on funded debt account, $4,121,000; contributions to the sinking fund, $50,000; paid for expenses of opening celebrations, $4,000, making a grand total of disbursements of $5,130,000, leaving a surplus over all fixed charges and expenses for the year of $62,000. Compared with the preceding year there was an increase in the earnings from commercial freight of $71,500, and from mail and express, etc., of $311,000, but there was a decrease in passenger earnings of $1,121,000, making a net decrease in commercial business of all kinds of $839,000.

Visitors at the White House

There were more strangers at the White House Wednesday than since June last. They came from all sections of the country—Texas, Tennessee, California, Idaho and Pennsylvania furnishing the greater proportion. As usual, there were more ladies than men. When the President entered the East-room he was rather surprised at the number, for there were nearly two hundred, but he did not have much difficulty in satisfying them, shaking each by the hand cordially.
